KCRFTHA To Host Seminar

Over 100 people attended the KCRFTHA held in January 2009.

The Kansas City Regional Fox Trotting Horse Association (KCRFTHA) will host a Missouri Foxtrotter Conformation and Prospect Selection Seminar on February 6, 2010 starting at 9:30 a.m. The seminar will take place at the Family Center in Harrisonville, Missouri. This six hour event will feature a video presentation of the conformation of the Missouri Foxtrotter presented by Janet Thompson. Ms. Thompson was raised around Missouri Foxtrotters and is a carded MFTHBA judge having judged shows around the country. The second part of the seminar will be presented by Geno and Barb Middleton.

This portion will focus on how to select a young prospect and training problem solving with questions provided by the audience. Plenty of time will be provided for a question and answer period. The seminar will be appropriate for those new to Foxtrotters as well as those with years of experience.

Each attendee will be entered into a drawing to win door prizes. In addition, the members of the KCRFTHA will treat attendees to a chili dinner. The KCRFTHA will also be auctioning off a four day, three night stay at a cabin in Colorado. The cabin can comfortably sleep eight people and there are stalls available for your equine companions. The winner may use the stay for trail riding or enjoy a winter skiing vacation. More information about the auction will be made available on the club's website.

The KCRFTHA will auction off a Colorado vacation at their 2010 Seminar.

For non-KCRFHTA members, there is a small fee of $10/single or $15/couple or family to attend the seminar. In addition to getting you into the seminar, attendees have the option of receiving a KCRFTHA membership. KCRFTHA members receive monthly newsletters along with other benefits.

The KCRFTHA promotes the Missouri Foxtrotter through trail rides, shows, seminars and other activities.
